

Dear Colleague,

only a brief last update on the conference "Environmental Microbiology and Biotechnology in the frame of the Knowledge-Based Bio and Green Economy" (EMB2012, Bologna, Italy, April 10th-12th, 2012; www.emb2012.org).

We have just made an agreement with the Editor of the international journal Environmental Engineering and Management Journal (IF 1.44) for the on-line publication (by the end of March 2012) of all abstracts accepted for oral and poster presentations at the EMB2012 (max, 2 abstracts as leading author).

This allows us to provide much more visibility to the papers presented at the conference, and the opportunity to extend abstract submission deadline for other 10 days, i.e. up to February 17th, 2012. Please note that this opportunity is only for participants fully registered at the conference before February 29th, 2012.

We have already received more than 300 abstracts, but there is still room for other qualified papers. The best papers presented at the conference (via oral or poster presentation) will be further considered for full-length manuscript submission to "New Biotechnology" (IF 1.84) after the conference.

Please, take advantage of this additional opportunity for joining EMB2012.

More information about the conference at: <http://www.emb2012.org>

Registration (due date, February 29th) at: <http://www.emb2012.org/registration.htm>

Abstract submission (due date, February 17th) at: <http://www.emb2012.org/abstract.htm>

Yours sincerely
Fabio Fava